Frequently Asked Questions

1 | How is an acid-free base better? And how do you check the acidity of the base coating?

Acid-free base coatings have PH close to natural, so they do not have an aggressive effect on the nail plate, do not dry it, do not change the natural color, do not have a damaging, deforming effect on the nails. At the same time they provide excellent adhesion to the colored coating and protect nails from pigment penetration. You can check the acidity of gel polish coating with the help of PH-testers.

2 | Which PNB bases can be used to strengthen and level the nail plate? Which base coverings are better suited for thin nails?

In both cases, we recommend using PNB ExtraPro Base / Fiber Base / Strong Iron Gel. They have a dense consistency of medium viscosity and are self-leveling.

On thin nails these coatings should be applied in 2 steps: after treatment of nails with the help of PNB Nail Dehydrator and Bond Control, apply ExtraPro Base / Fiber Base / Strong Iron Gel in a thin rubbing layer, sealing the free edge. Polymerize. Then apply a second coat, modeling. Dry in the lamp.

3 | Sometimes the colored gel polish is as if collected from the cuticle and the ends and is applied unevenly, with gaps.

In this case we recommend removing the sticky layer before applying the colored gel polish. The level of adhesion will remain, the colored gel polish will be spreading perfectly over the whole surface of the nail.

4 | Can I use gel polish coatings and auxiliaries from other manufacturers?

The compositions and formulas for gel polish manicure differ from manufacturer to manufacturer. If you like high quality and reasonably priced products of Professional Nail Boutique, we recommend you to use the whole range and not to combine the base coatings, tops, colored gel polishes with similar products of other manufacturers. Since pigments of gel polishes can react with a sticky layer of base coat, there is a high probability of depigmentation (discoloration, appearance of spots, changes in shade, short period of wear, tarnishing, chipping, etc.).

5 | What is the reason for the discoloration of some shades of gel polishes?

The main reasons:

- Long-term exposure to direct sunlight, tanning in a solarium.
- Use of household chemicals without protective means (gloves).
- Frequent contact with water in combination with detergents, cleansing agents.
- Sun protection products may contain components similar to those of nail polish removal fluids. We recommend you wipe the remnants of sun protection agents off your nails.

Recommendations

- UV/LED Titanium Base / Top Coat 2 in 1 is recommended for short, non-thin nails and pedicures. This coating has a less dense consistency. For thin, weakened, long nails it is better to use thicker and more elastic UV/LED Scotch Base / ExtraPro Base / Fiber Base.
- Applying the acid-free primer Bond Control is mandatory before applying the base coat.
- Insufficiently degreased or too wet nail plates are the main causes of peeling. Degrease the nail plate with Nail Dehydrator. In the case of hyper-moistened nails, perform the procedure several times.
